COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Application has been made to the State Highway Commission to have the Town Road Improvement Fund on the North West Bethel Road, commencing near the River-side Cemetery and extending North Westward to the beginning of the 1936 construction, a short distance above the William Chapman farm. Word from the Commission should be received within two weeks as to whether it has been accepted or not.

The 1956-1957 construction was surfaced with a penetration coat last year. When the budget was set up for this year it was doubt-ful if this section could be surface-treated with a much the full dis-tance. The cost of surfacing has been less than anticipated, due to the fact that the spreader has been very efficient in applying the as-phalt. There are enough funds available for the much job on this entire two miles.

It is rather disconcerting to have horses, some types of farm mach-inery and lag tractors driven over a paved road, particularly new work. Once the surface is broken up it can only successfully be re-paired by a new mulch coat.

Town meeting records have been checked back to 1931 and a list of roads that have been discontinued has been compiled for easy refer-ence. Also a list of new streets and roads that have been laid out and accepted by the town. The list gives the volume and page for easy reference to the old town meeting re-cords and a brief account of each street or road.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Addition Saunders hopes to have the new float ready this week and with volunteer help.

C. Heino Heading Brownfield Project

Beginning this week Charles Hei-no, principal of Crescent Park School in Bethel and an ardent out-doorman, will be in charge of de-veloping the Walker's Falls site. In addition to his duties of supervis-ing development of the area, he will conduct classes in outdoor skills with youth groups.

When the Fish and Game De-partment purchased Brownfield Bog, which borders the Saco Riv-er in the town of Brownfield and Denmark, included in the trans-action was a campsite and natural carrying place around Walker's Falls long used by canoeists on the Saco. Recognizing the lack of fac-ilities for canoeing enthusiasts along Maine's canoe trails, Fish and Game Commissioner Roland Cobb felt that here was a chance to pro-vide camping facilities on one of the State's finest canoeing rivers.

As the idea took shape, it was al-so evident that a supervised camp-grounds on the Saco could also provide the opportunity for youth groups to participate in outdoor ed-ucation activities as well as learn-ing the fundamentals of the art of canoeing.

With the Junior Maine Guide pro-gram in need of areas such as this to be used as training and testing grounds, the possibilities for uti-lizing the Walker's Falls Camp-ground appear to be almost unlim-ited.

With these thoughts in mind, the Fish and Game Department is co-operating with local camp owners in a program designed to provide shelters, campsite areas, and waste disposal facilities.

The upper reaches of the Saco River provide ideal canoeing water, and there are numerous side trips available into a number of ponds. The Walker's Falls Camp Site will be open to all persons using the river. In order to preserve the wil-derness aspects of the camp site, use of the area by outdoor enthu-siasts will be restricted to persons and groups traveling the river.

HAROLD MARSHALL

Harold W. Marshall died Sunday morning, June 22, at the Veterans Hospital, Togus, where he had been a patient for several months.

Born at Upton, March 23, 1909, he was the son of Michael J. and Elizabeth Brown Marshall. He was graduated from Gould Academy in 1923. On April 14, 1933, he married Lola Larvey. Mr. Marshall was a Machinist's Mate 1/c in the U. S. Navy during World War 2, serv-ing overseas with the Navy Sea-bees. Prior to his entry into the service, he had been employed as a woods scaler for the Brown Com-pany, Berlin, N. H., and as crane operator at the South Portland shipyard. Since his discharge from the Navy in 1945, Mr. Marshall has been employed as a handle mach-ine operator at the Ekco-Tobetts plant at Locke Mills.

He was a past commander of the Jackson-Silver, A. L., of Locke Mills; past county commander of the Oxford County Council; and past vice-commander of the State of Maine, A. L.; service officer of the Jackson-Silver Post for several years and service officer of the Oxford County Council for one year; past chef de gare of Vol-ture 613, 40 & 8; member of the Locke Mills Union Church and the Locke Mills Men's Club.

LESLIE E. CORBETT

Leslie E. Corbett died unexpect-edly Sunday at his home on the Mayville Road.

Born May 23, 1885, at Errol, N. H., he was the son of Jacob and Sophronia Hiley Corbett. Before his marriage to Mary Logan Cor-bett in 1916 he lived at Errol. Since 1938 Mr. and Mrs. Corbett have resided in Bethel where he worked as a carpenter by trade.

Survivors besides his widow is a sister, Mrs. Ernest Gould, Dum-mer, N. H.

Our close-knit community suf-fers a severe loss in the passing of Mr. Corbett. He was a car-penter, a craftsman and a gardener of high talent. His charges were mini-mum and his services were maxi-mum. No piece of work was too big or trifling for his attention, and he responded to appeals with quickness and efficiency. He would mend a leaky roof, build a house, or tend a perennial border, all with cheerfulness, efficiency and ad-vice. As a good citizen he did volunteer repairs at our Public Library over the years and the appreciation of the library person-nel was adequate pay. And now to whom shall they turn? All sym-phony is extended to Mrs. Corbett in her great loss.

HUMANE ANIMAL SLAUGHTER BILL SIDE-TRACKED IN CONGRESS

Swift, Armour, Cudahy, Wilson, and other meat packers have won a round in their fight against humane societies, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and religious groups such as the Board of Social and Economic Relations of the Methodist Church, the Southern Baptist Convention, the National Council of Catholic Women, and other citizens who are seeking to curb cruel slaughtering practices. The humane slaughter bill had long been delayed in the Senate Agriculture Committee after passing the House of Representatives overwhelmingly this February. Senator Ellender, Chairman of the Committee, obtained defeat of the humane measure by amending it into the study bill which the meat packers wish to see enacted as a hedge against effective legislation. The bill met this same fate in the Committee in 1956. But the House Committee on Agriculture investigated slaughterhouses in person, observed cruel methods in use on most animals and practical humane methods in use in some plants. They sent an effective bill (requiring the use of humane methods by all pack-

Mrs. Lesta Compass is a patient at the St. Louis Hospital, Berlin.

A group from the Gould Academy Class of 1927 got together last Sunday at Mrs. Lauri Tamminga's in Yarmouth. Those present were Mrs. Bertha Mills and Mrs. Edna York of Bethel, Mrs. Vivian Barlow of East Andover, and Mrs. Mildred Parker of North Leeds.

Persons wishing to contract with the government to the House by a majority of 25 to 13, and it was passed by voice vote. The Senate Committee did no slaughterhouse inspection. At the recent hearings they even refused to see and hear a sound film graphically depicting routine pig slaughter as inflicted on more than 80,000,000 pigs each year. Then they passed a study bill, which would not protect even one animal, by a vote of 10 to 6.

Humane slaughter proponents will contest the decision. They state that the Senate as a whole cannot be dominated by the meat packers. The United States is one of the few civilized countries which does not require humane slaughtering methods in its packing plants. Humane methods whereby animals are rendered insensible to pain and fear, have been proved to save money by reduction of bruising of meat, injury to workers on the killing floor, reduction of labor turnover and operation, and other factors. More mail has reached Washington for enactment of the legislation than on any other issue during the past two years.

Try
this wagon
for size!

Try our Travelall® before you decide on any station wagon!

It has half again the load space of other wagons - takes big, bulky objects others can't handle. Hauls like an honest-to-goodness half-ton truck. Yet it comfortably seats 8 grownups. Even four-wheel-drive models are available.

You'll like the easy way it handles, and you'll like its low price. Come on in today and try it for size - the INTERNATIONAL Travelall! Remember, like all INTERNATIONAL Trucks, it costs least to own!

The world's most complete truck line - 13 ages to 96,000 lbs. GVW
